The 'Revolution' In Ink Can Scraping

with the Inkster,[®]

Everybody wants to scrape the ink cans

This NEW device makes ink scraping a snap!

The Inkster turns one of the least favorite jobs in your plant into one that no one minds doing. With the Inkster, scraping the remaining ink from cans is almost effortless.

"I'm convinced some people are running around looking for cans just so they can use it (The Inkster)."

– Plant General Manager

With the Inkster, all you do is secure the device to an existing 55 gallon drum. Then, just invert the ink can over the stationary scraping bars and rotate the can around the bars. Remaining ink falls into the drum. The scraping bars wipe clean thanks to an ink-repellent coating. It's a revolutionary improvement over hand scraping.

"We make sure there are enough Inksters around. We never want to hand-scrape again!"

– Pressroom Manager

• Proud to be a Minnesota Great Printers Project Affiliate •

Just place ink can over the stationary scraping bars...

And rotate the can around the bars!

Use the Inkster to:

- Meet RCRA standards for ink removal
- Eliminate concerns about repetitive motion injuries
- Reduce dramatically the time it takes to scrape cans
- Streamline cleanup thanks to ink repellent scraper coating
- Improve morale by making a hard, messy job easy and clean

"I can scrape ten ink cans in the time it used to take to do one. It's so easy compared to hand scraping."

– Ink technician
